INTRODUCTION

Ansar Arabic College is very supportive for uplifting the students from all sectors of society, especially the students from socially and economically backward society. In order to promote their talents and also to develop literary and artistic talent. The IQAC of the college has been conducting Nadwa programme since 2013. The main objective of the programme is to scaffold the student with literary and artistic talents along with academic excellence. This platform enables the student to reduce their stage fright and perform confidently in front of an audience. The students are given the charge to schedule the programmes of the day under the guidance of a faculty in charge. The students could develop their leadership qualities and to ensure the standard of conducting different programs. Each student has been given the opportunity to perform any form of the art of their personal interest. Students who lean backward from all programs are given scheduled programs to perform without fail. The IQAC of the college organizes a weekly training programme in the last hour of every Wednesday to enhance the innate talents of the students .

The programme has been successfully going on in the college since 2013. The programme aims to augment the self expression of the students by providing them opportunities to express themselves freely through various cultural, literary and art forms. Almost all students get chances to participate in the programme when their turn comes in the weekly training programme. Even relatively introvert students are encouraged slowly to express themselves through any of the cultural forms of their choice. As the programme is organized every week class wise all students are provided ample opportunities for their self expression. Events like debates, speeches in Malayalam, English, Arabic, Hindi skits, mono acts, mimicry, short story writing and reading, news reading, analyzing global events, singing, etc...are regular items of the programme.
