When the earth was flooded with excessive exploitation by human beings on earth, it muted the life of the people and their dreams and dreams of tomorrow, an environment where nobody can accommodate is just a place where horns and wagons are freed. We set out our journey to say that they were not alone and we were with them to help them to get to life. The areas that had been destroyed by the flood caused silence among us. Even when we saw the flooded area, there was nothing to be spoken out. Our goal was to strengthen our mind by listening to people as they wished. We were able to help them realize that they have others help.

There are a lot of people in 'Athani' who have been replaced by relatives and children because they could not be cared for in old age or because they thought their presence might affect their lives. Most of them are mentally and physically distressed. Athani come forward to care for them and give them rest and treatment. It was a visit that created an awareness in the minds of every student. They had to remind us: Our helplessness at a young age means that we would not have survived if our parents had not taken care of us, so we should never forget our parents.
